'Kid' Palmer Beats Eddie Trembly in Great 12-Round Exchange of Gloves

BAD CUT OVER EYE AND FRACTURED RIB HANDICAP EASTERNER

Crowd Pleased With Duel Between Hard-Hitting Middleweights; Preliminaries Bloody, but Entirely Devoid of Knockouts; Carl Morris and Fred Fulton to Meet in Local Ring on December 5.

By B. A. BRIDGEWATER.

Battling furiously to overcome an early lead piled up by his opponent, Andy (Kid) Palmer won Referee Ged Gahan's decision over Eddie Trembly of Bangor, Maine, in a bloody 12-round at convention hall last night, by living up to his nickname of "Arizona Wildeat."

"Break" Helped Palmer.

In showing the way to Trembly Palmer administered another reverse to old Muo Dope who has been militireated so much in record times that he how is hardly recognisable to his best friends. For on his record, as compared to Palmer's Trembly figured to win—and the "wise ones" went flown to defeat slong with him. At that, without attempting to deliace trem Palmer's victory, it might be said that a break of the fight ciped him materially. Trembly had been forging to the front up to the fifth round. In that seesion dirring a mix-up at close quarters Eddle received an ugly gash above the right eye that bled prefusely almost continuously until the end of the fight, and this handlesp seemed to interfere materially with his work.

Palmer seized the advantage and used if for all it was worth. Every "Break" Helped Palmer.

seemed to interfere materially with his work.

Palmer selzed the advantage and used it for all it was worth. Every moment, thereafter he was right on top of Trembly, always poking away at the bag sys whenever he had top of Trembly, always poking away at the bag sys whenever he had top opportunity.

A Fight Full of Fighting.
It was a great scrap to watch. There was more good, hard punching, clean, effective hitting, than had been seen in convention hall it many a month. Both boys here how to hit, and neither loaded a mismont Both, moreover, were in such excellent condition that they shoot up under the territic punishment meted to gach other, without a from or, and at the end both were going strong. There was not a knockdown though many a blow was shed by each that would have floored lots of weaker fighters.

Weather Hurts Crowd.

Weather Hurts Crowd.

The crowd, which was held down by the unfavorable weather, voiced its approval of the bout throughout and cheered both men at the finish seedly and admired his punching ability, gameness and ability to stand the gaff, everybody agreed that Palmer trimmed him in the last half of the battle.

Palmer cam, through the bout number of gioves he stopped. It showed he was in splendid physical condition. His campaign in the east has hardened him.

Aside from being tougher and seeming better able to land him blows, he is the same old Palmer a lace-in, rushing hattler, always foreing the going to his utmost.

Trembly Has Rib Broken.

After the fight it become known that Trembly had fought from the second, cound with a broken rib. Dr. L. C. Presson, the club physician announced that he had examined the fighter and found a fractured rib on the left side.

"I was afraid for a while that i couldn't stick it out," Trembly said. "I couldn't use my left at all in the last seven rounds, and when I swons my right it was mighty painful, fought a mighty poor fight, but it was the best I could do."

But Trembly won't lose anything by his defeat in the minds of Tulsa fans.

Trombly Starts Well.

Trembly outbooked and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right of the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Palmer up to the fifther out, the right and outpunched Weather Hurts Crowd.

Trembly Starts Well.

Trembly outhowed and outpunched Palmer up to the fifth round. He won the first and Palmer the second. Trembly then amnexed the third and fourth, stabbling Palmer with his left and frequently smashing his right to Palmer's taw. It looked like he would beat Palmer.

But in the fifth Palmer opened a vicious body attack, keeping always at close quarters and pounding Trembly's ribs and stomach constituously. It was from one of these reembly a rios and solomach continuously. It was from one of these sessions at close quarters that Trembly emerged with the fiesh above his left eye laid wide open. Those at the ringside saw no blow that might have caused the injury. Trembly and his manager said Palmer's head did it, but they didn't believe Palmer butted intentionally. From then on it was Palmer all the way. In the tenth Trembly seemed to recover, and punched Palmer effectively, but the Kid staged a come-back late in the round and evened it. He attacked Trembly furbonsly in the eleventh and twelf.h.

The attendance of women was larged gentler sex (some of it at least) gets pather hard-boiled at a boxing match. In the seventh round when Trembly's eye was shedding a stream of blood, spattering, ringside spectators, a girl in the ringside section, standing up in the rehalr shouted at Palmer:

"He's got another eye, Andy, Fix in the round."

Morris and Fulton to Meet.

Morris and Fulton to Meet.

It was amounced from the ring side before the main event opened that Carl Morris, the Sapulpan once the hopes of the white race, would meet Fred Fulton, another glant of the ring at convention hall December 5. The crowd booed lustily at the first mention of Carls name, but quieted down would meet Fred Fullon, another glant of the ring at convention hall December 5. The crowd booed lustily at the first mention of Carls' name, but quieted down when the announcer managed to make it known that Fulton was to oppose him.

Morris left yesterday for Dayton, Chio, where he is matched to meet 'Tut' Jackson, the Washington Courthouse negro, on November 2!.

No Knockouts.

The gentle art of knocking 'emout seems a lost art hereabouts again it was a program without a single kayo. With middleweights and welters predominating, two or three haymakers were thought certin, but not one came.

The semi-windup was a gory draw between Pop Keener of Bartiesth and Earl Sager of Osage middleweights. Sager knocked Keener wasteral times in the first round and him grouge, but lacked the extracted the rast Centenary M. E. tokin Camp by the score of 21 to 13. While First M. E. took Grace M. E. talo camp by the score of 20 to 11.

The other six-rounder. With more fights under his beit Sager will be dangerous.

The other six-rounder, between Walter Case of Tulsa, and Claude Sparks of Ada, welters, was rathed the hydrogeneous of the scattered exchanges and won the decision.

The three 4-round bouts all went the limit. Dean Hood beat Toning Ervine in a bloody battle, a real old ashioned situsting match. "Wild lish" Rose of Sapulya, and Ray Adair of Tuba, boxed a hard draw, Louie Avry, the newshoy, beat solly Wingo.
